ENVIRONMENTAL EDUCATION

The board recognizes that the quality of life for the inhabitants of planet Earth is directly related to the quality of the environment. Furthermore, the board recognizes that the actions of the citizens of the planet Earth determine environmental quality, and that education can and must foster positive patterns of citizen conduct toward the environment.

Therefore, the Board directs that education about the environment be incorporated into the curriculum and instructional activities in appropriate levels. This program shall:

a. Consider all aspects of the environment – natural built, technological, social, economic, political, cultural and aesthetic – and acknowledge their interdependence;

b. Offer students experiences as concrete and direct as possible in developing environmental awareness, knowledge, attitudes and problem solving skills;

c. Involve students in an active problem-solving process in which they investigate the environmental issues and problems of this community in a neutral atmosphere with no position being advanced over another.

The administration shall assist and support the teaching staff in developing and coordinating activities relevant to the above program and make available resources required for its full implementation
