Why Dr Margaret Boltja Stands Out as Macon's Leading Pain Management Specialist

Chronic pain can be life-altering, but finding the right specialist can make all the difference. In Macon, Georgia, Dr. Margaret Boltja has earned a reputation as one of the most trusted and accomplished pain management specialist in the region.

A Dual Board-Certified Expert in Pain and Neurology

Dr. Boltja is double board-certified by the American Board of Pain Medicine and the American Board of Psychiatry and Neurology. Her unique combination of expertise in both pain medicine and neurology allows her to approach complex pain conditions with a comprehensive, multidisciplinary strategy. She completed her medical degree at Mercer University School of Medicine, followed by a neurology residency at the University of Alabama Birmingham and a fellowship in interventional pain management at the Center for Advanced Pain Management and Rehabilitation in New Jersey.

Over Two Decades of Compassionate Care

With more than 21 years of experience, Dr. Boltja has been serving patients across Georgia, including Macon, Thomasville, and Lake City, FL . She is affiliated with Atrium Health Navicent Medical Center, a U.S. News-ranked hospital, where she continues to provide exceptional care.

Comprehensive, Patient-Centered Treatment

At GA Pain and Regenerative Medicine, Dr. Boltja offers a wide range of advanced treatments for conditions such as arthritis, back and neck pain, herniated discs, joint pain, and complex regional pain syndrome. Her approach integrates interventional procedures with regenerative medicine techniques like platelet-rich plasma (PRP) therapy, aiming to reduce pain and restore function without over-reliance on medications.

Patient Testimonials Reflect Her Impact

Patients frequently commend Dr. Boltja for her compassionate care and effective treatment plans. One patient shared, “Dr. Boltja is one of the most caring physicians I've ever met. She listens and addresses every problem I have. She does not cover up pain by loading you up on pain meds. She looks at what is causing the pain.”

Convenient Access and Telehealth Options

Dr. Boltja’s primary clinic is located at 1157 Forsyth Street, Suite 200, Macon, GA, and she offers telehealth appointments for added convenience.

Why Choose Dr. Boltja?

- Double board-certified in pain medicine and neurology
- Over two decades of clinical experience
- Advanced interventional and regenerative therapies
- Personalized, patient-first care
- Affiliated with top-rated hospitals

For those seeking expert pain management in Macon, Dr. Margaret Boltja offers a blend of experience, innovation, and compassionate care that sets her apart.