2. The Soviet Russian formal demand upon Turkey for joint control and defense of the Bosphorus and the Dardanelles.

3. Soviet pressure on the northconcentration, reported from Tehran, of Red troops there, as if in preparation to move southward on British positions on the Persian gulf. The British, it is reported without confirmation, have assembled two or three divi-troops as allies near the Adriatic.

7. Rapid sovietization of the Russian zone in Germany and the Soviet's employment of German army, navy, air and submarine officers, including specialists in all branches of warfare, engineers and skilled workmen. Experimental V-rockets over Sweden, presumably fired from the Soviet zone in Germany and the the Soviet zone in Germany and Foland, are repeatedly reported from Stockholm,
