Stuff We Want

The Best New Beauty Products Glamour Editors Tried in November

Aromatic creams and Festive makeup top our list this month.

By Michella Oré
November 30, 2021

Welcome to Stuff We Want, our comprehensive roundup of the best beauty products we tried each month. From undisputed favorites to brand-new releases, these are the things our editors loved throughout the month of November.

With holiday season in full swing, we've been indulging in much needed self-care as we wrap up end-of-year projects and begin to check off our gift lists. Topping our list for best new beauty products to come out in November: a creamy body butter infused with shea butter and aloe vera, a metallic liner far ahead of its time and a seductive collection of miniature fragrances that smell great together or alone. Scroll on to see which products we couldn't put down this month.

Ona New York Airplane Mode Intense Hydration Gel Mask

To gain some semblance of relaxation during the busy holiday season, I plan to throw on this hydrating face mask any chance I get. It's loaded with hyaluronic acid and camellia japonica for dewy and reenergized skin. — A.Y.

Farmaesthetics Midnight Absolute Candle

Hand-poured in Paris using French rapeseed wax, beeswax and organic apricot oil, this candle is the perfect accompaniment while you apply a face mask or do an extended self-care routine (the Farmaesthetics Midnight Honey Bath and Body Oil is also superb and provides rich hydration). With top notes of bergamot and violet flower, heart notes of honey and vanilla, and base notes of vetiver and amber, it will immediately transport you to the nearest imaginary luxury spa. Also, it comes with the cutest glass container of matches. — J.R.
