

HOSPITALITY.

Where it will be Extended To morrow.

Some of the Housea in This City at which New Year'o Callers will Receive a Welcome — The Plymouth Pastor to Take a Holiday—Dr. Talmage Beady for all Comers.

The weather prophet promises fair weather for to-morrow , the first day of tho New Year , but there will be much caning whether tho prophet be right or wrong, for Brooklynites do not readily forsake old and good customs. The elergy of the city In the main will welcome all who come, though Mr.
Beecher , with doop regret , announces what will bring regret to many others , that ho must forego his annual receptio n. Dr. Talmage sends out this cheery Invitation to everybody : "As some of my newspaper friends have asked If my Invitation for Now Year 's calls is intended only for my own church , I horoby invite all our citizens to call on me New Year's day from two o'clock to nine P. M. People of all circumsta nces, nationalities and religions , and of no religion at all, yonn g and old, friends and foes, will receive a warm welcome, a hearty shake of tho baud and a benediction. If , as has been suggested , tho old Knickerbocker and Christian custom in sorno places Is falling Into disuse , we mean , bo far as my house Is concerned , to start It again with redoubled zest and cordiality. " That the doctor 's heart y sentiments meet with general approval is evidenced by the following list:
