The clip art is from <http://office.microsoft.com>. It can be used for educational purposes without copyright infringement.

These cards can be used to elicit answers to who questions, introduce occupation vocabulary and produce adverbial phrases with who ( a ___ is a person who _____).

1. You can cover the answer and picture by slipping the card into a pocket. The student can read the clues and see if they can get the correct answer, before looking at it.
2. You can read the clues one by one without showing the picture side. The student can obtain points for the number of clues it takes to get the correct answer. These points can be used in a board game to determine the number of moves the student gets.
