

How to reveal a cheating partner

Do you have a reason to believe that someone is cheating on you? It is a widespread problem among couples nowadays according to surveys. Surveys also reveal that approximately 50 percent have cheated at some points in their relationship. Have you ever felt cheated? Or is it just a wrong impression. Maybe you feel something is going on, but you don't want to stir up any trouble without a firm proof. You might just be one of the lucky ones with a faithful partner. Yet, if you really want proof to be fully convinced, then do your due diligence.

But how would you go about carrying out the investigation? You could call the numbers yourself, but that would probably turn out to be a little awkward. You could ask your spouse or partner directly about the phone numbers, but you don't want to make it look like you don't trust your spouse or partner. You only want peace of mind. The unidentified or suspicious phone number may turn out to be a business associate with whom your significant other is doing a big business project or friend who has been having a hard time lately or maybe it's a travel agent who is helping your significant other plan an unforgettable getaway with you. You may never know who the phone number belongs to, and you don't want to live with the constant suspicion that you are being cheated on, but you don't want to call the phone number and you don't want to ask directly about it, so what should you do? You should do online reverse phone lookup.

One of the best things about a reverse phone lookup is that it is 100% confidential. Your spouse or partner will never know that you had any suspicions and you won't need to call the phone number to try to find out who it belongs to. Identifying person's name and address is very simple. Mobile phones may have been a way to cheat, but it also may be a way to catch the cheater. Take a look at the calls received as well as the calls dialed on your spouse or partner's cell phone history. Enter each unidentified phone number into a reverse phone lookup search. The reverse phone lookup search will provide you with the name and address of the owner of each phone number you search. You will have the answers you are looking for without having caused any trouble.

Once you have the results of your reverse phone lookup, also consider analyzing your spouse or partner's calls history. Look for repeated calls and names and also look at the frequency and time of the calls. Are the calls always made or received when your spouse or partner is at work or late at night? Do the calls occur more frequently when you're away on a business trip or your running errands? These are all things to consider when determining the motive behind the calls.

And, who knows, the results of a reverse phone lookup might reveal that your partner has been faithful anyway. By then, you can be sure that you can prove your doubts wrong and start anew with trust in your relationship.

More articles...