Report on the Photo Exhibition ("Salute To Friendship") Sponsored by the
Chinese People's Association for Friendship with Foreign Countries
("CPAFFC ")
Held at the Rayburn House Office Building on May 19, 2014

BACKGROUND:

On May 19, 2014, the Chinese People's Association for Friendship with Foreign Countries ("CPAFFC ")("Youxie") held a reception at the Rayburn House Office Building, Washington, D.C., for a Photo Exhibition entitled "Salute to Friendship - Images Narrate China-U.S. Collaboration During World War II".

The invitation to attend the reception was issued by CPAFFC in the name of the President of that organization, Madam Li Xiaolin. (See Invitation, Exhibit A)

Members of our organization, the U.S.- China Peoples Friendship Association ("USCPFA"), were invited to attend. The Southeast Florida Chapter of USCPFA was represented by Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Cooke. Representatives from the D.C. Metro Chapter of USPCA, the Embassy of China, Youxie, and the U.S. House of Representatives (and staff) were also in attendance.

The photos used in the exhibition were taken by soldiers of the U.S. Army Signal Corps during the World War II. They recorded, from the American perspective, the touching friendship of mutual support and warm interaction between the Chinese and U.S. soldiers and civilians. The exhibition was held on the occasion of the 35th anniversary of the establishment of China-U.S. diplomatic relations (1979).

WELCOMING ADDRESSES

Madam Li Xiaolin welcomed the attendees and expressed the hope that through the exhibition, the people of China and the United States would remember the history of friendly relations between China and the United States and will join hands in deepening that friendship and cooperation in the coming decades.

Also speaking was Christopher Nixon Cox, the son of Trisha Nixon (daughter of President Richard Nixon), and the grandson of President Nixon. Mr. Cox congratulated Madam Li Xiaolin and the CPAFFC for sponsoring the exhibit and hosting the reception. He spoke of the historic trip his grandfather made to China in February of 1972 which ended a quarter of a century of unfriendly relations between the United States and China. Mr. Cox noted that during the 1972 trip President Nixon visited Hangzhou where he planted a seedling, a California redwood.

Last year (2013) Cox visited Hangzhou and saw that the seedling was now a tall and flourishing tree which in the future will grow even bigger and stronger. He said "[t]he process of that Redwood's growth is a lot like the relationship between America and China. It might suffer from storms, but with consistent and meticulous care, it will continue to grow and prosper long into the future."

THE EXHIBITION

The exhibition begins with a piece entitled:

"THOSE MEMORIES WILL NEVER FADE"

"Memories may carry an individual's past, as well as the history of a country or a nation. Sweet memories bring us happiness, while bitter memories make us reflect and vigilant. And sweet memories of a hard time is even more precious and deserves to be cherished dearly.

"World War II has been a larger scale disaster in human history. People from many countries suffered from this catastrophe, which has become a memory to bitter to recall. However, it's the shared conviction of mankind to pursue peace and happiness, and oppose war. Such conviction connects all people who love peace. The photo exhibition shows the Chinese and American people fighting side by side during World War II, their friendship forged during the wartime and the heart-warming interactions between soldiers and civilians. The pictures give a vivid account of those memories in the China-U.S. relations which will never fade.

"With this exhibition, we commemorate the Chinese and American people who have contributed to the peace cause of mankind, some of whom even sacrifice their lives, and extends sincere gratitude to people from all sectors of life from the two countries who work for China-U.S. friendship and cooperation."

A representative sampling of the many images set out in the exhibition are shown in Exhibit B to this report.

Some personal photographs are included in Exhibit C to this report.

Respectfully submitted,

s/g Jerry A. Cooke

U.S. AIRMEN BATTLE JAPANESE IN CHINA

With parachutes flopping, U.S. pilots run for their fighters to give chase to the Japanese as an air raid warning sounds "somewhere in China". Such squadrons, using U.S. planes, paint a shark's mouth underneath the engine to frighten the shark-fearing Japanese. Brig. Gen. Claire L. Chennault's air forces also include bombers, which have been blasting Japanese installations regularly. 6687-P (See accompanying photos)
