Chairman
Organizing Committee
Conference on the Settlement of the Mideast Conflict, 15.01.17
Paris, France

Dear Sir (Madam),

RE: on the solution to the Israeli-Palestinian conflict

Let me express my scientific view of the Israeli-Palestinian conflict, the conference is organized to find a solution to. First of all, neither of the proposals in this regard made so far by Israel and the the Palestinian Authority is tenable, both theoretically and practically. This conflict is just a local manifestation of the general ideological crisis of civilization. Therefore this conflict cannot be settled locally in principle: it needs first the settlement of the general ideological crisis.

To settle the above general crisis it is necessary to start reforming the ideology of modern society, which would necessitate the reform of modern humanities, religion and education. Fortunately we have started such a reform, achieved significant results and developed a general methodology for the reform, but now we need a broad international support, from UNESCO first of all. However, so far all our numerous appeals to UNESCO and the UN in this regard have proved futile. The main reason for that failure seems to be an absolute inadequacy of the UNESCO current mission to the real global situation, on the one hand, and the monstrous general corruption of modern scientific institutions, on the other hand.

In this connection, taking into account the facts:

- that the above general ideological crisis is developing fast threatening the very destiny of civilization, given the present numerous local unsolvable conflicts and the rise of terrorist activity;
- that the above general ideological crisis is the main reason for the general moral degradation of modern scientific institutions;
- that UNESCO is the only international organization that by its very spirit should be committed to the settlement of the above global ideological crisis as its main mission and therefore needs a thorough restructuring;

would you please propose the main conclusion of the conference to be the above thorough restructure of UNESCO, with its main mission to be the settlement of the above global ideological crisis, in general, and the settlement of the current Israeli-Palestinian conflict, in particular. For more information on the matter, please see our appeal to the UN enclosed.

Yours sincerely,
