Prayer Diary

June to August 2018

Foreword from Bishop Graham

On 29 June the Church celebrates the feast day of St Peter and St Paul and, whilst very different characters with different roles, they have been remembered jointly since the very early days of the Church, perhaps this being the date on which they were martyred.

St Peter was devoted to Jesus. Stories about him show someone who was impetuous yet courageous, extravagant in his emotions, energetic and impulsive in his style, slow to understand yet a preacher of the gospel, and someone who was ready to be imprisoned and to die for his devotion. Jesus had faith in him and for good reason, gave him the name πέτρος – petros, a word play on πέτρα – petra, meaning rock.

We build a picture of St Paul from Luke's record in Acts and from Paul's own pen in his letters. Here was a passionate, energetic, brave, convinced, vulnerable, directive, caring, clear thinking individual. Tom Wright, in his very readable Paul: A Biography, writes about Paul's vision being of a "united and holy community, prayerfully rooted in the scriptural story of ancient Israel, facing social and political hostility but insisting on doing good to all people, especially the poor."

What a debt we owe to them both as we continue to pray that the Church may ever stand firm upon the one foundation, Jesus Christ our Lord.

+ Graham

Welcome to this summer edition of the prayer diary!
This quarter we're praying for three different deaneries in our journey around the diocese – Dudley, Stourbridge & Evesham.

We also pray for Bishops around the world using the Anglican Cycle of Prayer and the Porvoo prayer calendar (www.porvoochurches.org) – these are included in italics at the bottom of each day.

Do let me know if you've got a story to feature on a Sunday in a future diary – the more notice you can give me the better! And don't forget that large print copies of the diary are always available – email me on ssetchell@cofe-worcester.org.uk, or contact the Diocesan Office reception on 01905 20537 if you or someone you know would like one.

Best wishes,
Sam Setchell, Communications Officer

Bredon Hancock's First School turns 300!

During June, Bredon Hancock's CE First School will be celebrating its 300th birthday. It was founded by William Hancock, who left a sum of money with instructions that it be used to educate boys of the parish – there is still an ancient notice about this in Bredon Church.

Originally a boys' secondary school, Bredon Hancock's has changed significantly over the years, but it has strong links with the church and there is a Georgian building on the site which still belongs to Bredon Church.

Over the past few months, pupils have been learning about the history of the school and the part it has played in the village. They are working with artists to create a celebratory installation with each class taking an aspect of the school's history to create a panel. And a new stained glass window is being produced for the foyer, which includes the children's designs all around the edge.

Headteacher, Mel Millar, said: "It's amazing to be surrounded by so much history and the children didn't realise how old the school is. We've been fortunate that a considerable amount of money has been spent on the school over the last few years, and all the work will be finished in time for our birthday celebration!"

Bishop John will join staff and pupils for a tour of the school on 15 June. He will bless their new celebration garden and be part of a service of thanksgiving and celebration in St Giles' Church. There will also be picnic for families on the school field. On 23 June, the school is joining a community day with a procession, country dancing and singing as well as traditional and modern games.

Pray for the staff and children at Bredon Hancock's school during their special birthday celebrations.

Bishops in Mission weekend in Evesham

Over the weekend of 17 & 18 June, Bishops John and Graham, along with a team of around 20 people will be visiting Evesham deanery for a weekend of sustained mission.

The 'Bishops in Mission' weekend follows an invitation by the Archbishop of Canterbury for all bishops to work alongside those training for ministry (ordinands) by spending time sharing their faith in a local context. In Evesham, there will be a series of events in different parishes as well as in the town centre itself to help the churches reach out to those on the edges of its communities and share the love of Jesus with them.

Bishop Graham said: "98% of people in Evesham deanery are not particularly involved with the life of the church. We long that they will become involved and that the joy of the Gospel will be theirs too.

That's why over the weekend of 15 – 17 June we will be celebrating the life of every church community in the deanery and sharing personal stories about the difference that being a friend of Jesus has made in our lives."

*God of compassion,
you sent your Son Jesus Christ to proclaim good news to the poor, recovery of sight to the blind
and freedom for those who were captive or oppressed;
send your Holy Spirit on us now that we may truly be your Kingdom People and draw the people of the Vale of Evesham to know Jesus Christ as their Saviour and to share the abundance of his risen life in love, compassion, justice and freedom.*

Please pray for all those involved in this event, that the final preparations will go well and that during the weekend, people will encounter Jesus and begin to welcome him into their lives.

Buildings symposium

On 13 June, the diocese will host a 'Buildings Symposium' welcoming people from across the Church of England to look at the future of our church buildings and how they must change to survive.

Heritage Buildings and Community Support Officer, Andrew Mottram, said: "An early outcome of the appointment of Place of Worship Support Officers (part funded by Historic England) was the recognition of the need to change the way church buildings are understood, used and managed. The recent 'Taylor Sustainability Review of Church Buildings' confirmed this need for change. However, there is still a great deal of work to be done to identify the most effective routes to success.

"Church buildings need to do more than just serve as places of worship if they are to survive the changing society in which they are located. Simply saving historic buildings because they are old is not enough; their roles both now and in the future, need to be considered from the very outset."

The one day symposium will share what has been learnt to date and also provide the opportunity for key leaders in the church and heritage sector to share their insights in what changes are necessary to secure the future of churches as places of mission. Speakers are coming from the Archbishops' Council, Heritage Lottery Fund and Historic England among others.

Please pray for all those attending this symposium on 13 June.

Lifepath Malvern

Lifepath takes place annually in Malvern Priory, this year running from 18 – 22 June. It involves 620 children from 20 local schools, 100+ volunteers from 16 different churches and 14 different activities over five days!

Children join volunteers from local churches to journey back in time through the history of the Priory. From the foundation of the monastery by Aldwyn and the other monks in 1085, looking at how the arches were built and stay standing, the stories told through the windows and brasses, the life of the monks – daily prayer, calligraphy, farming and food, through to new developments in medicine and science. Activity groups and collective worship sessions with action songs and stories are punctuated by bells calling for silence and a chance to reflect on their own 'lifepath'.

Lifepath couldn't happen without a dedicated team and they get fantastic feedback from both children ("Thank you for the best school trip ever... How do you make it so brilliant? It is phenomenal") and teachers ("I can't think of any way it could be improved. The activities were so carefully planned, with teaching and practical work in all cases").

Please pray that every aspect of Lifepath this year will be inspired by God's Holy Spirit and enveloped in the love of Christ.

Taking Funerals Seriously

About one third of funerals in this country are taken by Church of England ministers, but this figure is falling; we are losing our 'market share'.

These days, many people are opting for (or being steered towards) a 'non-religious' funeral, perhaps because the deceased did not go to church. But CofE research has shown that most mourners want a funeral service that is both personal and hopeful in the context of a supporting, caring community. These are elements which the Church – and perhaps only the Church – can and does provide. So maybe we are underselling ourselves? In times past, we waited for the phone to ring for our services; now maybe we need to be more vocal in the 'market place' and advertise the especially good and even unique things that the Church's funeral ministry offers.

Some of these themes were explored in a diocesan day workshop held in May. Now a small Diocesan 'Funerals Group' (Nick Wright, Alex Vaccaro; Alex French and Andy Hewines) is seeking to help our churches and deaneries respond imaginatively. One new step is to ensure that we have enough funeral ministers to readily respond to requests from funeral directors. It has been agreed that suitable ALMs may now be encouraged to add to their training in order to become 'Authorised Funeral Ministers'.

But all church members have a role to play: encourage people you know to make their funeral wishes clear to their families, and remind them of the good and important things that only the Church's ministry can provide for their families when they are bereaved.

Please pray for all those who lead funerals in the Diocese and if any of these matters are important to you or your church, do get in touch with the Funerals Group through Nick Wright revnmwright@btinternet.com

Grants will improve Dudley Churches

Kate Andrew, Church Buildings Project Manager, been supporting three churches in the Dudley area in the delivery phase of their building conservation projects, all with major grants from the Heritage Lottery Fund.

St Thomas & St Luke has now finished a £275,000 project to provide safe access to the roof and functioning rain water disposal. The grant from the Heritage Lottery Fund (HLF) was complemented by awards from seven other Trusts and foundations plus lots of volunteer time.

Although watertight, the church is still on the At-risk Register and the remarkable painted East window is one of the 100 most significant at-risk 'church treasures'. We are meeting HLF to explore the best way to approach the next stage of work.

St John's, Brockmoor has also been on the At-risk Register for many years. Some damage was all too obvious; peeling paint, falls of plaster and failures of sections of the electrical system. However, less visible was severe rot due to water getting into the building. A £280,000 project began in January and will deal with all these issues.

Building work is due to finish in mid-May and the contractor will be back on site for some traditional skills demonstrations at a public event with heritage displays on Black County Day, 14 July.

St Edmund King & Martyr's appearance on the At-risk Register is partly due to a very obvious hole in the porch ceiling caused by a failure of the drainage from the tower roof. Scaffolding started going up just after Easter and work on the £280,000 project will repair the tower roof as well as fit a new kitchen and toilets. A separate project to create a much needed access ramp for those with mobility impairments is planned to happen once the conservation work is complete.

Please pray for all of Dudley's Churches and for Kate Andrew as she works to help the parishes ensure their buildings are fit for purpose and accessible to the community.

Chaplaincy to the Police and Fire & Rescue

Last year, the Revd Dick Johnson became the first Joint Lead Chaplain for both West Mercia Police and Hereford & Worcester Fire and Rescue Service, alongside continuing to work with Faith and Work in Worcestershire (FWW) part-time.

Dick said: "I have always enjoyed chaplaincy so working with both Services is an exciting opportunity. The two services are increasingly working more closely together so it makes sense to have a joint chaplain."

Dick began chaplaincy with the Fire Service in 2007 as part of his work as Industrial Missioner with FWW. The work was valued to the extent that the Service has now allocated funds to a partnership with West Mercia Police that employs Dick for three days a week.

"Much of my role is about listening," Dick said. "Quite often I'm talking to staff about what is worrying them and it has little, apparently, to do with God and faith. But of course it does, as the work of emergency services, with all its tragedy and success, is very much part of God's world. It's about being a Christian presence keeping the rumour of God alive in a largely secular world. A particularly important part of my role is to provide support to crews who have been to difficult incidents – giving them the opportunity to talk through that experience with someone independent and process what they've seen."

The Joint Chaplain role makes up 60% of Dick's time, with the other 40% funded by the five denominations involved in Faith at Work in Worcestershire. "I'm a full time Chaplain with a number of portfolios. It's challenging, but immensely fulfilling and enjoyable."

Please pray for Dick and those in the Police and Fire and Rescue services with whom he works.

Tiny Tunes in Worcester

Tiny Tunes runs at St Martin's Church, London Road, Worcester on the fourth Monday of each month. The partnership with the Elgar School of Music brings classical music to babies and toddlers along with their carers.

Janine Parsons is Head of School at the Elgar School of Music and helped to set up the initiative with St Martin's. She said: "We had seen the idea elsewhere and thought it would be a great thing to offer in Worcester. Listening to music develops imagination and creativity and is great for the emotional development of young children. It's also really hard to get out to concerts when you're a parent so the idea was to provide something for the mums, dads and grandparents too!"

"For St Martin's, it's all about welcoming people into the church," said Shirley Scott, Concerts Administrator at the church. "We've got a great church for music here with excellent acoustics and facilities, and this fits well with our other concerts and our mission to the community. It enables a different group of people to come into church and feel comfortable and it's great to be able to help nurture young children."

Kate Stephenson-Pugh brings her two year old and baby to Tiny Tunes. She said: "It's great that there are different types of music. My son is quite cautious, but each time we come, he's paid attention to the music and has started to have a dance. It's a really good experience for the children and I enjoy it too!"

Pray for all involved in Tiny Tunes at St Martin's Church and that all that attend will feel warmly welcomed into the church.

Our Ministry Experience Scheme

The first three participants on the diocesan Ministry Experience Scheme are approaching the end of their year. Melissa, Jonathan and Peter have lived in a vicarage in Dudley since September, praying together and getting practical experience of what it's like to be a vicar in a parish. All three have been discerning their calling to ordination.

Peter said: "It has been a fantastic way to be able to experience ministry. I've had the opportunity to be with people through the toughest and the best times of their life. There is an incredible sense of community in the Black Country. I feel like I've been invited into the family and it's been awesome to be part of that."

The three participants have lived together and say evening prayer together daily. Melissa said: "Taking the time to pause each evening as we say the psalms together has really helped me to look at the bible in a different way. It's brought the word of God into my innermost life."

Jonathan said: "It's been really enriching to learn from each other's traditions and spirituality as we come together to pray. And it's been brilliant to be involved in the full breadth of parish life. It's allowed us time and space to reflect on who we are and I've learnt a great deal over the last few months."

Pray for Melissa, Peter and Jonathan as they continue their Christian journey and pray for the Ministry Scheme moving forward that there will be more 18-30 year olds keen to take up the opportunities of the scheme in September.

Cassius Francis – Just Finance

The Revd Cassius Francis has been appointed as Just Finance Development Worker for the Black Country. He will work with churches and local community groups across the four boroughs, including Dudley in our diocese, to help the most vulnerable become better financially equipped, supporting the work of other organisations such as Christians Against Poverty, Community Money Advice, whg (Walsall Housing Group) and Credit Unions.

Just Finance is a national charity which was established to increase the supply of fair and affordable credit, build financial capability and develop fair financial systems in local communities. The Archbishop of Canterbury is the charity’s President and the Black County is now the fourth area in the country to benefit from a dedicated development worker.

Cassius is a Minister with the Wesleyan Holiness Church and trained for ordination at Queen’s Theological College in Birmingham. He said: “I wanted a role which would enable me to engage practically with people and offer support. Too often the most vulnerable only have access to credit at the highest cost. People don’t assess the high interest levels and can quickly get into a cycle of debt which it’s difficult to escape. Just Finance offers practical skills around budgeting and financial knowledge and a key part of my role will be to help people to access these.”

Cassius can offer training for church and community groups to help them support people in their communities. For example, it’s possible to arrange a ‘train the trainer’ session on simple budgeting skills and helping people be more prepared for the impact of Universal Credit. He is also planning some work with schools to help young people become more financial savvy.

Please pray for Cassius in his new role and the people and parishes he will support.

Centenary of Women’s Suffrage

We take for granted our right to vote in national and local elections, whether we choose to exercise our democratic right or not. A hundred years ago, only property-owning men could do this.

The Representation of the People Act of 1918 enabled all men over twenty-one, and 8.5 million of the 15 million women of Britain to vote, as long as they were over the age of thirty and owned property. Full parity for women came only in 1928.

Many people think that the campaign for women’s right to vote began with the suffragettes of the 20th century, but it began much earlier. Groups of women and men lobbied Parliament, spoke at public meetings, and raised awareness of injustice throughout the 19th century.

One such group was the Church League for Women’s Suffrage. The Worcester branch was led by a cathedral canon, James Maurice Wilson, who ran meetings from his home with his wife, Georgina. The Dean of Worcester, William Moore Ede and his wife Sarah were also active members, as was the Bishop.

The Church League shunned violent protest, but, by connecting equality with Christian principle, added to the tide of opinion that made the 1918 Act inevitable.

O God, the light of the nations, we thank you for all who strive for justice and challenge our complacency.

*Grant that we may use our voices and our votes for the good of all people, and that our faithfulness to your all-embracing love may be known
not just in our words, but also in our deeds.
Through Jesus Christ, our hope and salvation. Amen.*

Retreat Café, St Francis, Dudley

Earlier this year, the Retreat Café at St Francis's Church in Dudley was shortlisted for the Mayor of Dudley's 'Pride of Dudley' award. They were one of three finalists from over a hundred nominations for the award which is chosen by the local community.

The Café opened six years ago when St Francis was asked to take over responsibility for the building attached to the church which was originally built for community use. It is run voluntarily by the two churchwardens, Lorraine Robbins and John Barrett, who serve between 40 and 60 people each day between 9am and 3.30pm.

John said: "We can't believe how successful it's become! We welcome everyone and anyone and they can get a full cooked meal for less than £3. The all-day breakfast is particularly popular. We were shocked and thrilled to be nominated for the Mayor's award. Both Lorraine and I run the café because we enjoy it and it helps the church, so to be recognised in this way is an added bonus!"

All the food provided at the café is cooked to order and the café also caters for functions, including a meal club once a month where there serve around 35 people at a special rate. The café also offers work experience to four young people with learning difficulties who work regular shifts each day.

"Most people find us through word of mouth," continued John. "The feedback we receive is that people feel welcomed and unpressurised and we get lots of return custom. It's become a real hub for the local community."

Please pray for all who are involved in The Retreat Café and for all those who find refreshment there.
