

The Last Chance of Civilization

Igor S. Makarov
New Marxists of Russia

At present, the international situation is escalating so rapidly that there is doubt about the very possibility of preventing the Third World War and its likely fatal consequences for civilization. This conclusion is drawn, in particular, by Svetlana Gomzikova's recent article in the Free Press (Russia), "The United States chooses the 3rd world (war): Trump rejects the peace plan proposed by Gorbachev and Reagan."

The article shows the following:

- (1) the world is on the verge of its own destruction;
- (2) the world seems to be striving to its own destruction;
- (3) the feasibility of extending the START treaty with Russia raises doubts in the United States; moreover, such a treaty is hardly possible in principle - even if the parties wish;
- (4) there have been no concrete proposals to prevent the world nuclear war other than proposals of some illusory measures to strengthen international security;
- (5) political leaders are unable to master the international situation which is gradually being swayed by the military.

The reason for the current critical situation in the world is the aggravation of the general ideological crisis of civilization. Nowadays the dominant ideology in the world is a chronic form of fascism (oligarchy), which manifested itself in a sharp form during the Second World War in the confrontation between the European fascism, based on economic oligarchy, and the Asian fascism, based on political oligarchy, respectively right and left fascism. The solution to this crisis, therefore, should be sought not in the military, political or diplomatic spheres, but in the ideological sphere.

Overcoming the current ideological crisis requires a radical reform of society. The need and possibility of such a reform has been shown by the author's decades-long independent research in the fields of exact sciences and humanities (see Enclosure). Those studies, thanks to a fundamentally new method, have already led to the reform of theoretical physics and a breakthrough in humanities, politics and economics in particular. Those results have also allowed us to develop a project aimed at reforming modern society, and we have repeatedly proposed to start its implementation. However, our unusual proposals threatening the centuries-long traditions of the highly conservative European universities, have alarmed the establishment, which still keeps blocking all our initiatives.

While the establishment's reaction to the new phenomenon in its field of knowledge may look quite natural, Russian neo-fascists have imparted quite a new dimension to it: they contracted a conspiracy with their counterparts in Israel and Europe aimed at isolating us thoroughly from the scientific community. At the beginning of the research their true intentions were unclear and were revealed only at its final stage, as follows:

- (a) July 2007, London: several copies of our research in physics are sent to academies and universities of some European countries; instead of expectable discussions of our work, under false pretenses we are denied political asylum in the UK, thus being forced to return to Israel;
- b) the Israeli Ministry of Immigration provides us with a social accommodation in Haifa, in a hostel with a special regime: the hostel is controlled by the Russian security services, who block all our channels of communication and intercept all correspondence;
- (c) November 2009: we visit Amsterdam and mail 60 to 70 copies of our research in physics to universities and research centres in Europe seeking their opinion of our work; however, no responses followed; it is also unclear whether the sent copies were delivered to the recipients;

d) November 2015: Russian agents in Israel intercept and steal our laptop computer, lost in France, then found and dispatched to Israel by the Baggage Du Monde company, - with all the materials of our research and some important documents contained in it;

(e) May 2018: ATINER (Athens, Greece) invites the author to a philosophy conference where some thieves manage to steal our Israeli passport (#20672278) and some other documents; on returning to Israel, the Ministry of the Interior in Haifa tries to provide us with a false bio-passport and a false bio-identity, so that there still exists doubt about the authenticity of those our bio-documents; a few months later, the Israeli Embassy in Greece informs us about our lost documents having been found, but returns to us only a part of them - without the passport.

The above operations committed by the Russian special services point to the criminal nature of their above conspiracy and, certainly, the futility of all our efforts to achieve success with our research in such an environment. If one takes into account the fact that it is these unrecognized research works that now pave the way to overcoming the said ideological crisis now threatening the very existence of humankind, the above conspiracy starts looking like a particularly dangerous international crime, the one making the risk of a new world war extremely high.

In this connection, as the last chance to eliminate the prospect of a new world war, we propose the following extraordinary measures:

- (1) to establish, perhaps in Prague (The Czech Republic), a new international institute (The World Reform Center) under our leadership, with the aim of resolving the current general ideological crisis and developing a new, progressive social ideology;
- (2) to close UNESCO and all its institutions;
- (3) to close temporarily all humanity universities and humanity faculties of universities in Europe, the United States and Russia, at least, as some of the main sources of the current ideological crisis.
