

These kids would probably think you're really cool.

Until they find out you're 30. Then they'll think you're an old dork.

(Just a little something to think about as you blow out your candles.)