

Flower Bookmarks

Easy, beginner level project!

All the joins in this pattern are lock joins, also known as shuttle joins. The drawings below show how to make this kind of join, which locks the thread so that the double stitches stop sliding at that point.

Pattern:

Leave long tails when starting.

R 2-2-2-2-2. RW.

*Ch 6-6, shuttle join to next p of R.

Repeat from * around.

Cut thread, leaving long tails.

Abbreviations:

R ring

Ch chain

- or p picot

RW reverse work

Tip: When you are ready to start the first chain, just hold the ball thread in position -- you don't need to tie a knot.

The first double stitch of the chain.

Finishing tips:

Form a simple, attractive tail with the remaining threads. Tie the last 2 ends by taking the core thread (the one that matches the color of the ring) through the 1st ring, bringing the chain thread around to tie the 1st half of a square knot. Then gather all the ends together and tie one big overhand knot, snugging it up tightly to the base of the bookmark. Trim ends as desired.
