

UFC 254 khabib nurmagomedov vs justin gaethje live stream online

How UFC 254 is shaping up to be biggest card of the year: Lightweight king Khabib Nurmagomedov looking to realise late father's dream, Tony Ferguson on the comeback trail while Robert Whittaker takes on the man no-one wants to face at middleweight

We're over one month away from the biggest lightweight title fight in UFC history, with Khabib Nurmagomedov defending his 155 lbs championship for a third time when he faces Justin Gaethje on October 24.

Robert Whittaker, Zabit Magomedsharipov and Rafael dos Anjos will feature at the unconfirmed location, while White revealed that Tony Ferguson and Justin Gaethje are likely to be the co-main event.

Khabib tweeted on Wednesday that he is headlining 'the best card of the year', so Sportsmail runs through the stacked card and why UFC 254 may well be the best fight card of the year.

Khabib Nurmagomedov vs Justin Gaethje

<https://ufcfightstonight.com/>

There has been no stopping Khabib Nurmagomedov since his arrival in the UFC eight years ago, with the Eagle steamrolling every challenger thrown in his direction.

The 31-year-old is 28 fights undefeated and is targeting a win over Gaethje before a showdown with UFC legend Georges St Pierre, to round off a remarkable mixed martial arts career.

But a win over the Highlight is far from a formality, with the American viewed as the opponent that will pose the most challenging questions to the undefeated Dagestani.

Tony Ferguson vs Dustin Poirier (not yet confirmed)

This one is yet to be made official, although UFC chief White has revealed that Tony Ferguson will 'probably' co-headline UFC 254 with a bout against former title challenger Dustin Poirier.

The pair have both been crowned interim lightweight champion, but neither have been able to take that next step in becoming undisputed king of the 155 pounders.

Zabit Magomedsharipov vs Yair Rodriguez

Next up is a man who will be feeling as though his shot at the featherweight title is due any minute now. Zabit Magomedsharipov has patiently waited on the sidelines while Alexander Volkanovski and Max Holloway have twice fought for the 145 lbs belt.

Talk of a third bout between the champion and Holloway has angered the Russian, who has dazzled fans with jaw-dropping striking while also being able to dominate on the ground.

Robert Whittaker vs Jared Cannonier

Another man on the road to redemption is Robert Whittaker. The former middleweight king is looking to ascend to the summit of the 185 pounders after being knocked off his perch by Israel Adesanya last year.

The Australian was impressive last time out against Darren Till at Fight Island, securing a huge win over the popular Liverpoolian in a strong message to the rest of the division that he won't be going away quietly.

Islam Makhachev vs Rafael dos Anjos

Throughout his eight-fight UFC career, Islam Makhachev has quietly played the understudy to Khabib Nurmagomedov.

Makhachev is a loyal 'brother' of Nurmagomedov, and is regularly seen training with the lightweight champion as part of his team at AKA in San Jose.

Makhachev has been labelled a future UFC lightweight champion, and with Khabib reportedly eyeing up two more fights, the time is now for the Dagestani to put himself in a position to capture the belt.

Rafael dos Anjos vs Islam Makhachev returns to lightweight at UFC 254

Dos Anjos (30-13 MMA, 18-11 UFC), the former 155-pound titleholder, is set to take on Islam Makhachev (18-1 MMA, 7-1 UFC) at UFC 254 on Oct. 24. The event is expected to take place at Yas Island in Abu Dhabi, but has not been officially announced.

MMA Junkie verified the matchup with multiple people close to the situation following an initial report from BJ Penn.com. The people requested anonymity because UFC has yet to make an announcement.

Dos Anjos will return to lightweight for the first time since a November 2016 loss to Tony Ferguson. The Brazilian started out his welterweight tenure at 3-0, but has since dropped four of his past five, with his lone win coming over Kevin Lee. He will return to his original weight class, where he hasn't won since December 2015, when he takes on the streaking Makhachev.

Makhachev has had a hard time drawing a top-ranked opponent. After suffering his lone career loss in 2015, Makhachev has won six straight, most recently out-grappling Davi Ramos at UFC 242 in September.

MMA fight fans are probably aware of Khabib Nurmagomedov and his dominance in the cage. He is a Russian fighter that has a record of 28-0-0. He is considered a feared fighter because it is hard to take him down and finish him off. Ray Gaethje's fight record is 22-2-0. He lost two of his matches. However, he is considered a world-class wrestler who has an intense ground game on the mat. Both fighters are almost equally matched in fighting skill and ability. Still, we're going to take a closer look at these warriors and see how they stack up in the cage.

Fight Stats for Gaethje and Khabib

Justin Gaethje is 32 and he is 5-foot 11-inches tall. He weighs in at 155 pounds. He has a 70-inch reach and fights in an orthodox stance. Khabib Nurmagomedov is his junior since he is 31-years-old.

Nurmagomedov has a 70-inch reach, fights in an orthodox stance, and is 5-foot 10-inches tall. Both fighter's stats are almost the same in terms of their physical makeup. However, their fighting styles are different.

Nurmagomedov is a master grappler. He has been trained in various fighting styles such as wrestling, judo, and the Russian fighting style, Sambo. He is also a takedown artist. In other words, he is known for quickly getting his opponents onto the mat where his grappling skills kick in. He also has the ability to strike and keep his opponents in trouble. Nurmagomedov took on opponents such as the legendary Connor McGregor and Dustin Poirier defeating them both.

MMA fighting analysts believes that Nurmagomedov has the advantage in this matchup. Khabib is known as "The Eagle". He got this name because of his ability to take people down. This is similar to an eagle's skill of taking their prey and dropping them to the ground for the kill. Nurmagomedov is expected to give Gaethje all sorts of problems because of his superior wrestling and grappling ability.

Now let's take a look at Gaethje. He is no slouch when it comes to the fight game. This All-American Division-I wrestler is a well-decorated MMA fighter. To top this off, he has a very aggressive form of fighting. Gaethje, surprisingly, doesn't use his wrestling skills unless he absolutely has to. He relies more on his ability to strike and attack opponents standing up. He takes a lot of punishment this way, but his opponents will often wear themselves out. Once this happens Gaethje unleashes on them until he has gained the victory. His fighting style is totally different and if an opponent is not careful, they can get caught up in this unusual fighting method.

Gaethje could win this fight if he is able to use his wrestling skills to avoid Khabib's takedown and grappling abilities. However, if he has to get Khabib to the mat to win, he should just take him out early as possible. The fact is that Khabib is just dangerous to have to linger around the ring. He does not want to continue to go back and forth with this fighter.
