The following items have come up and via questions from potential bidders. The questions and answers are included below.

Q: Does every contractor need to be registered with SAM.gov prior to bidding?"

A: Yes, a contractor or organization must have an active registration in the System for Award Management (SAM.gov) to bid on, win, and receive payments for direct federal contracts or grants. Registration verifies business legitimacy, provides a Unique Entity Identifier (UEI), and is required to be active at the time of proposal submission.

Prime contractors are responsible for compliance of subcontractors with FLS and Section 3 on HUD-funded projects with total awards greater than $200,000, and may require their subcontractors to also be registered with SAM.gov
