cut the ground from under Byrnes."

Landon predicted that problems of the Paris peace conference would become more complex because of the situation, adding: "Strife, bloodshed, and hunger thrust the world will feed the fires of anarchy."

"If both Wallace and Byrnes stay in the cabinet, Uncle Sam will be in the position of carrying water on both shoulders. . . . The whole world is waiting to see whether the Truman-Byrnes or the Truman-Wallace policies are to be followed on momentous issues."

Attacking Democratic party principles all along the line, Landon asserted that anybody backing the New Deal ticket in the November elections "is certainly a blunton for punishment."

Wife Files Amended Petition for Divorce

An amended petition in a divorce action started recently was filed today by Helen Louise Lindell, a minor, thru her mother, Mrs. Helen McMurtrie, against Warren Roger Lindell in common pleas court.

The plaintiff asks temporary and permanent alimony, possession of all property and restoration to her maiden name of McMurtrie. She charges her husband left her on July 27, as failing to support her and is associating with Ula Miller. The couple was married March 9, 1944, in this city, and has no children, according to the amended petition filed thru Atty. Thelma Lowe Sparks.

Rescue From Grand Canyon

Hollywood dress designer Dede Johnson is pulled to safety after she fell 50 feet to a narrow ledge and hovered over the mile-deep Grand Canyon for two hours. She lost her footing while posing for pictures for her husband, wearing dark glasses above, but suffered only minor injuries and shock from the fall.

We, The Women

The Joy-Killer Is Simply Envious

BY RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

"I'm not going to show Joe the ladder I made," said the 5-year-old philosopher. "He'll just say it's dumb. That's what he always says when I show him anything."

There are a lot of grown-up Joes in the world.

They grow a little more subtle as they grow older, of course. But you can always count on them to make you feel that whatever you're proud of is for some reason "dumb."

Buy a new house, and the grown-up Joes are quick to point out the headaches in home ownership.

Buy a gadget, and they'll show you why, you just threw your money away. They had one once and never used it. The Joes have always had everything—and found most of what they've had wanting.

They're fond of the question, "How much did that cost you?" And whatever it was, it was too much. If you had just gotten the ropes, you could have known it for less.

KILL JOYS KNOW ALL

If you want to know what is wrong with matrimony, just get married—Joe will tell you then. If you are expecting a baby, Mrs. Joe will have a collection of gruesome tales to start you worrying.

"I think I know why Joe always says everything I have is dumb," said the 5-year-old philosopher, reflectively. "He just says that because he wishes it was his."

When even a 5-year-old can figure out the motive of the joy-killers, it's a wonder the grown-up Joes don't realize they aren't fooling anybody with their "you'll-be-sorry" attitude.

(2), they are radio-controlled; (3), they are controlled by television; (4), they return to their rocket bases; (5), they burn themselves out.

There is little to prove any of these beliefs. Many state that there are no such rockets at all, but that witnesses have seen meteors—falling stars—a common phenomena in Sweden during July and August, but certainly unusual in June.

The government is close-mouthed and has issued little information. One foreign office source explained to me the government knows little more than the average man about the rockets.

However, witnesses asserted the rockets, letting loose a trail of flame, traveled so swiftly they could not be seen in form.

One witness to three such rockets told me, "I was sailing on an inland lake when I looked up and saw a blazing trail of flame. It swept directly across the lake horizontally with the landscape. Within two minutes, two other flame trails appeared. There was no noise. I could see no shape or form to the 'things.' I know they were not meteors because it was just after sundown, before the stars appeared."

Technical experts have stated that at such speed as witnesses assert the projectiles to be flying, no pilot could be at the controls. They do not believe such missiles could be controlled for the distance the rockets appear to travel nor are they convinced that the projectiles are radio-controlled.

Whitney likened the Brotherhood's strike "defeat" to General Joseph Stilwell's retreat from Burma. He said:

"Let us admit that we, too, took a 'hell of a beating.' We know what caused it and we're going to do something about it."

Political action is needed, he said, to "give our members a clear analysis of the cause of this spurt (in living costs) and the action necessary to bring the costs down."

The president of the powerful Brotherhood cautiously hinted at what he had mentioned several months ago—that the independent rail union should consider affiliation with either the AFL or CIO.

He reminded the some 1,000 persons attending the convention that AFL President William Green and CIO head Philip Murray had been asked to address the gathering.

Whitney's address opened the first convention of the brotherhood since 1939. The meeting is expected to continue for six or eight weeks.

Garbage Collection Halted by Strike

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—(INS)—Milwaukee was without a city garbage crew today as a result of a strike of 500 garbage department, forestry and city hall workers in protest against delayed wage action.

The garbage disposal plant was closed yesterday afternoon, less than an hour after the strike announcement. Only a maintenance crew was left.

Al Hauke, representative of the CIO-Public Workers' union, announced the strike after Alderman R. A. Steinhagen, chairman of the common council finance committee, refused to call a special committee meeting to hear wage complaints.

Serious Cabinet Schism Is Denied

malting of American policy for the postwar world.

Wallace said in comment on the crisis his New York remarks caused, "Feeling as I do, however, that most Americans are concerned about and willing to work for peace, I intend to continue my efforts for a just and lasting peace, and I shall, within the near future, speak on this subject again."

By this adamant stand, observers believed, Wallace confronted Mr. Truman with the choice of dispensing with the last of the New Deal cabinet members or permitting foreign policy to become a major issue in the coming campaigns.

It appeared also that, if Wallace proceeds to wage a one-man foreign policy campaign as commerce secretary, and therefore with apparent White House approval, Vandenberg might be forced to abandon the Paris peace conference and return home. He threatened to do so Saturday, when Wallace's first speech was printed in Paris.

Whether Wallace intended by his brief statement to inject foreign policy into domestic politics appeared beside the point. If he does not wish to do so, there appeared to be many Republicans willing to take up the issue and push it.

Negro Indicted for Attacking Cab Driver

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O.—Howard Gamble, Jr., Cincinnati Negro, awaited trial today on three counts on which he was indicted by the Tuscarawas county grand jury in connection with the kidnaping, robbing and shooting of Dale Robinson, a taxicab driver of nearby Dennison.

Gamble pleaded innocent to all three counts when he was arraigned in common pleas court.

Joseph McClain, 35, a Dover beer parlor operator, pleaded innocent to an indictment for shooting with intent to kill three Dover police officers Aug. 18.
