The Women's Transition Project is a residential behavioral health facility that serves homeless women in recovery from drug and alcohol dependence, victims of domestic violence, women getting out of jail or prison, women with mental illness, and women who are working to reunite their families.

The transition project provides residents food, shelter, clothing, transportation, and childcare while offering a comprehensive array of services, treatment, and vocational training.

The organization will be applying for 5310 funding in the future to purchase vehicles. Staff provides transportation to medical appointments, shopping and treatment and social services providers. In addition, the Women's Transition Project provides transportation for clients to and from places of employment and to their residential placement after the program is done

Women's Transition Project staff are active in bi-monthly Transportation/Transit Coordination meetings.

Identified unmet needs include a vehicle to transport our clients to and from their vocational skills transportation to medical appointments, shopping, and treatment and social service providers as well as a truck for the deliveries of services and food pick up not only for the organization but for the community as well.
