How Long Does Sea Freight Take From China?

Transit time depends on routing, destination port, vessel schedules, and whether your shipment is FCL or LCL. Average timelines include:

Region	Example Countries	Transit Time
Asia	Japan, Korea, Vietnam, Malaysia	5–12 days
Middle East	UAE, Saudi Arabia, Oman, Qatar, Kuwait	18–28 days
Europe	Germany, UK, France, Italy, Spain	25–45 days
Africa	Egypt, South Africa, Kenya, Nigeria	30–55 days
North America	USA, Canada, Mexico	15–40 days
South America	Brazil, Argentina, Chile	35–55 days
Oceania	Australia, New Zealand	18–30 days

These ranges reflect real-world averages for ocean freight from China, providing importers with predictable planning windows.

Understanding FCL and LCL Shipping

FCL – Full Container Load

If your cargo is large enough to fill most of a container, FCL is the fastest and safest option. DDPCHAIN can arrange container shipping from China in all major container types:

- 20ft
- 40ft
- 40ft High Cube
- 45ft High Cube
- Reefer (20ft / 40ft)
- Open Top
- Flat Rack

FCL gives you a private container with no shared cargo, ideal for sensitive or high-volume shipments.

LCL – Less Than Container Load

If your goods do not require a full container, LCL lets you pay only for the space you use. For many small and medium shipments, LCL is the most cheap sea freight from China option.

Rates are calculated based on CBM (cubic meters), making volume the key pricing factor.
