

NOT saying “all” MLMs are BAD - they’re NOT

Note: I was involved [part time] in the MLM-Network Marketing industry, for 30 years, with ‘many’ different companies [Pro & Con] ... while ‘also’ serving on the Board Of Directors of their professional association, representing Canada, for [4] years [ANMP] - so I do believe I have a pretty good “feel” for this industry. (Click) >>>

Bottom Line - I have many friends in this industry, who I respect - and whose friendships I treasure - but frankly, I see MLM as a [largely] BROKEN Business Model ... with highly over-priced products, etc. Not that all MLMs are BAD - no (there ARE many “good” ones). All I am saying is - tread very carefully.

As a Business & Financial Consultant - I want you to be AWARE of these:

The Five Red Flags of MULTI-LEVEL MARKETING

- 1 You're incentivized to recruit other participants.
- 2 Promotions are achieved by recruitment, not appointment.
- 3 MLM participants are the primary buyers of products.
- 4 Commissions and bonuses are paid across more than five distributor levels.
- 5 To earn a significant income, you need to recruit a large "downline" from which to draw commissions from.
