

To undisclosed recipients.

My name is David Summers, I am 35 years old and until recently I was a prescribing psychiatrist

What you are about to read will more than likely seem impossible and you might believe that I am trying to trick you into or out of something.

Your critical mind and scepticism do not worry me, no, quite the contrary, a critical mind is open to new information. Please allow yourself to read the whole of this message before you make any judgements.

I am very, very aware of the difficulty that anyone might have believing this.

The date, here, is June the 13th of the 10th year of World Peace, (2035, by your reckoning).

You have received this communication because we have been able access certain historical databases and your profile was flashed as someone that would likely be interested and capable to help us. More of this I will explain later.

If the calculations are correct, you should be reading this somewhere between 2015 and 2020.

- As I am a psychiatrist and not a physicist I am having a little difficulty trying to grasp how the time paradox can work and I have absolutely no idea how it can be possible to change the future by sending a message into the past to do or not do something, just as I have no idea how it can be possible to send a communication into the past in the first place – we have a genius named Bob Myers to thank for that.

If by accident a copy of this message has appeared in the present and you are reading this in 10 WP, be warned, if the med police find that you are reading this, they will condemn you for interacting with a heretic and can reduce or stop you meds for days or even weeks!! Please, you have been warned.

If the time thing has succeeded, and you are reading this in the past, you are in no immediate danger, more than that, you might be able to avert everything that is happening now.

So, if you are ready to risk knowing a little more about me, here is the basis of my story:-

I am a graduate of the Glaxo-Mayers University and I was a founder member, (in reality I was one of the conceptors), of the International Psychiatric Order.

Four months ago I was ejected from the IPO and my right to both prescribe and to receive meds was revoked.

The stopping of my meds was of course dreadful; I was diagnosed as emotionally unstable with anxiety and nightmares at 4 years old F428.51 and with antisocial intellectual paranoia at eighteen F6347.2, and have been taking my cocktail of meds since then. Of course, as a member of the IPO I was also obliged to participate in the professional human testing programme (PHTP) in which we all test the new euphoria molecules.

The immediate withdrawal of all my meds was the worst experience of my life and the warnings as to the reaction of stopping your meds is real and awful.

I could of course have re-applied for re-entry to the IPO and to have agreed to undertake the new training and education program but I was convinced that the IPO is a dangerous organisation and needs to be stopped at any price, so I let pass the 30 day maximum re-application date and endured the hell of drug withdrawal.

I now understand why the IPO gives only a 30 day time scale for re-application – after 30 days the withdrawal effects subside and one starts to feel normal again –actually to feel normal for the first time in my life without meds.

I now live in the semi-illegal confines of a non-med community and I wish to share with you my story and the chilling tale of the creation of the IPO and the Medicalised World Project, (MWP).

You might wonder why I have not used your name at all in this email, it is because I do not know if the governments / pharma companies might already be monitoring emails to your IP address, hopefully this mail will be flagged as spam.

If you are willing to risk continuing to monitor this story, please log in on a public network and follow the link to <http://kvisit.com/Vp7QD>, (Keep & Share, file sharing service), and I will unfold my story and explain why you were selected.

If you do not wish to do this, I strongly suggest that you destroy this communication and any trace of it.

Thank you,

David Summers, ex-prescribing psy.
