

A Unique Connection/A Great Collaboration: Shoot A Line

18.02.2021

California rap artist SpenDoe is no stranger to International networking, and collaborating with many. In the past, has been featured on The BBC Hype Show with Desi Producer Sureet Sandhu, had his work remixed by London Producer 2Darc, and even recorded a song with Bengali rap artist Ivory Shakur when he was known as "Gamble BCF". This is how SpenDoe became the artist he is today.

Towards late 2020, Australian hip hop producer Tazzah P reached out to the American rapper for a feature. This all happened during the Covid19 Quarantine. SpenDoe had been working on multiple releases, simultaneously. Soon after SpenDoe recorded his verse, he sent it back to Australia for Tazzah P to put the finishing touches on. Unknown to SpenDoe, Tazzah P had already enlisted Los Angeles rapper Baby S (Known for featuring on Kurupt's 1998 hit single "We Can Freak It" & his own 2001 solo debut "Street Fractions" released on Blast/Ruthless Records & distributed by Epic/Sony), and PlanB Strik9 of Ontario, Canada. PlanB Strik9 is another artist who grinds out music just as hard, and is a top 20 billboard artist. He has worked with many great artists as well. To connect Australia with Canada, and have two west coast rappers from opposite sides of California, is quite the blend. The result is "Shoot A Line".

This is a heavily laid back, g-funk inspired production with all three rappers dropping verses in a smooth order. Since being released in late 2020, the single has already passed 100,000 streams and downloads, receiving amazing feedback from all sides. Available on all music platforms, be sure to listen to "Shoot A Line" today.
