SURVIVING THE MOB ERA

BIO:

With 2020 getting off to a bizarre start, and everything going on in our society; Santa Cruz, CA rap artist SpenDoe drops his latest collection of works titled "Surviving The Mob Era". It will be released on Tuesday (Mar. 03), on Money Goonz Muzik and Spin Rich. It features songs with fellow West Coast rappers Mozzy, B-Legit, FMZ (CruzMatik), Willie Rich, and C-DUBB. SpenDoe is arriving with his first single "Shottaz", along with a music video to accompany the dark, underground, and catchy track detailing fast money and street life. While this release might seem like a solo album to many, it is only a "collection of unreleased works" says SpenDoe. According to SpenDoe "with the way things were going in my life, I wasn't in a position to sit and craft an album that I would be comfortable labeling "my solo debut". With this release, I have given my listeners something gritty, and thought-provoking on many levels. I touch on different types of subjects. I had about 80 songs to pull from, and wanted to give the streets something right away". Production on "Surviving The Mob Era" was handled entirely by Sacramento, CA producer/rapper C-DUBB. Growing up by the water, and brought up in an era of Northern California's stronghold on the music scene, SpenDoe was highly influenced to give music a try. Already being a listener of hip hop music, he began associating with older heads who were already established in the bay area music scene. This is where SpenDoe first caught a glimpse of "the mob era" of the San Francisco bay area. Over the years, he witnessed the loss of many he knew. There were people dying, going to prison, turning to drug use, and living crazy lives. Focusing on music is what helped keep SpenDoe grounded. Still, it didn't save him from making a few mistakes along the way. Standout tracks include "Unforgettable", "Shottaz", "I Want Thangz", "Some Typa Way (feat. Mozzy)", "Spin Rich (feat. FMZ)", and "Bay Area Gone Mad remix". The thought-provoking track "Deep As The Ocean" details how SpenDoe feels about the drug epidemic, and how people of certain ethnic minority groups are preyed on, and targeted. He is raising awareness, in hopes that others won't get caught up in the vicious cycle of the streets, and prison system. His focus is not to shift the blame entirely, but to help connect the dots to where things ultimately started at. Surviving The Mob Era will be available on all digital music platforms, and hard copy CD through SpenDoe's social media.
