Seasons Greetings & 2021 Summary Vivomotion

Remote Delivery of Training Workshops Increases Reach

Despite the challenges of COVID, new opportunities came our way with our online workshops. Due to remote delivery of our training workshops, our geographical reach has expanded and we've taken on new clients at the Universities of Newcastle, Lancaster, Exeter and Helsinki (pictured above). Sharing our knowledge on the visual presentation of research is part of our mission but working with more Universities helps to increase our depth of insight into the academic world.

“ Having completed the two-day workshop, I was inspired and confident in approaching presenting my work in a whole new way. The resulting confidence I felt was commented on by all of my thesis supervisory team. ”

Wanda Machin, University of Highlands and Islands

Career Support - New Workshop, Mentoring and Podcast

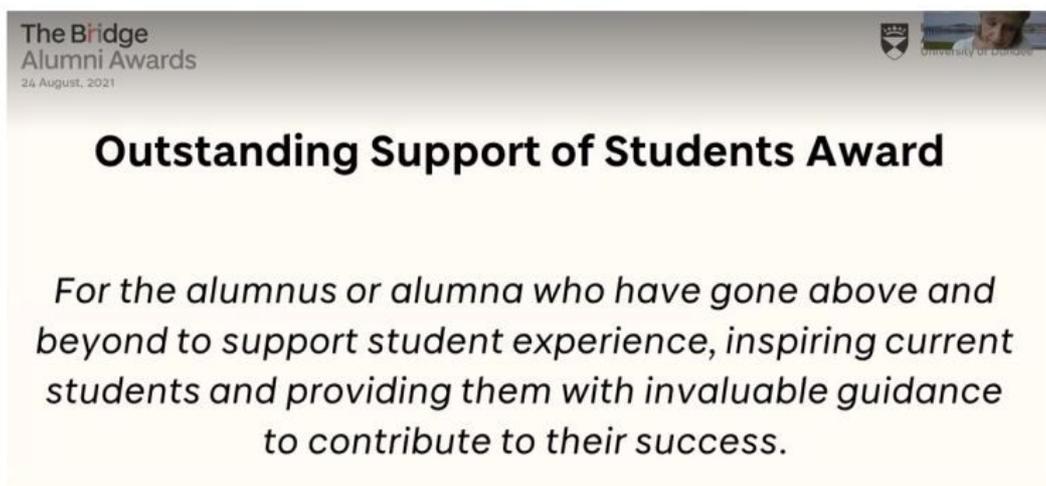

A new workshop has been developed entitled, ‘ Alternative Careers in Science’. This came about as a result of Mhairi's own career switch from science to scientific animation. It got her thinking about how she could package her knowledge about career decisions into a training workshop for PhD researchers to help them plan their next steps. If you would like to add this to your suite of training please get in touch (mhairi@vivomotion.co.uk).

mentee progress their career.

Next year see's the launch of our first podcast, 'Opportunities in Science'. Mhairi will interview some of her peers to shine a light on the varied areas they are working in after completing a science degree. We aim to inspire the next generation of scientists with this initiative.

Award - Honorary Mention

Mhairi was delighted to receive an honorary mention in the first ever University of Dundee Bridge Alumni Awards in the category of 'Outstanding Support of Students'. She has shared her career story over the years many times, not only with students at Dundee. It was nice to be recognised for her contributions.

Seasons Greetings and a Healthy New Year

Happy Christmas and a healthy New Year to all those we've worked with this year and will continue to work with in 2022! Thank you for your continued support of Vivomotion.
