You are to be congratulated for assuming the responsibility for your children's education. The challenge of preparing them to live and succeed in a secular society, while maintaining your values, can be daunting. In the past, it has been very difficult for homeschool families to access nonpartisan instructional resources that are both accurate and free from biases, particularly in history and civics. That's all changed, thanks to the Americans All Homeschool Resource Center.

We enable you to gain unlimited access to high-quality instructional resources in social studies that will help you prepare your children to participate effectively in our nation's democracy, economy and workforce, as well as our increasingly diverse and complex global society—without their being subjected to unwanted perspectives. The Internet and the multimedia, historically accurate, nonpartisan data housed in our center makes it practical and affordable for homeschool families to customized social studies instructional resources to better support their personal beliefs. This unlimited electronic access benefit is free when your family joins the Americans All Social Legacy Network for a one-time, tax-deductible fee of just $39!

Reinforcing our belief that legacy preservation and education are closely linked, we invest 85 percent of our membership revenue to enhance K–12 social studies instruction.

Our instructional materials are grade-level-specific, and they can be used to help homeschool students meet testing requirements. The center contains links to our existing social studies instructional materials and teaching tools which are part of the resources we developed during the past 30 years. Many of these resources can effectively enrich the homeschool learning experience. They include:

- A generic and historically accurate 412-page timeline publication;
- Hundreds of period specific photographs, each annotated to tell a story;
- 22 songs that reflect the experiences of early 20th century groups; and
- Grade-level-specific teacher's guides.

In addition, we are developing electronic, high-quality, multimedia grade-level-specific social studies resource databases that are organized, alphabetically and by subject matter, to include names of people, places, events and concepts. Embedded in the databases are links to other appropriate information to strengthen learning opportunities and facilitate interdisciplinary connections. We also offer professional development opportunities in social studies for teaching in homeschool environments.

Consistent with our philosophy, the center leaves all content, curriculum and instructional decisions to individual families, and to ensure privacy, we do not publish or share contact information without written authorization.

Besides the instructional resources, membership gives you the opportunity to create and update a legacy story about an individual or your family for free. Legacy stories acknowledge that heritage and culture are rich aspects of personal and group identity and contain invaluable knowledge and experiences that will be lost if not passed on now to future generations. These stories are published, forever, on our Web-based Heritage Honor Roll and, for wider distribution, on the Americans All home pages of Legacy Partners. Learning how to research, write, edit a life story (whether published or not) offers a wonderful bonding experience for an entire family and can showcase examples of individuals and groups who reflect your beliefs. Use this tutorial to discover these and other benefits that come with membership in our Social Legacy Network.

Advancing Homeschool Education while Honoring America's Stories

Celebrate Your Family's Legacy

Our Heritage Honor Roll preserves the stories of America's families. These stories are an important part of our nation's history and social fabric. By joining our Social Legacy Network for a one-time, tax-deductible fee of just $39, you can create, share and update a legacy story about your family while receiving quality instructional materials to help educate your children, at no additional cost. The online and print versions of your family's legacy story can be created and modified in multiple languages. The online version can include photographs and links to other Web sites and audio and video recordings.

Gain Access to Quality Instructional Materials

Homeschool families are responsible for educating their children. To help you meet this commitment, we give participating homeschool families free electronic access to:

- Americans All classroom resources, including 262 annotated, period-specific photographs, 6 texts and 22 songs relating to major groups who came to America in the early 20th century; a 412-page timeline publication on events that shaped our nation's history; and teacher's guides that describe how best to use these materials effectively in your children's instruction;
- Grade-level-specific databases that provide resources for further social studies and civics instruction;
- Additional information from our Homeschool Resource Center; and
- A monthly alert announcing new resources.

Contact information for participating homeschools is not displayed on our nonprofit Foundation's Web site, unless the homeschool asks us to do so.

Access Social Studies Resources and Create a Legacy Story

By joining the Americans All Social Legacy Network for a one-time, tax-deductible membership fee of just $39, you and your family can immediately access electronically the Americans All classroom materials and, once they are developed, the state- and grade-level-specific resource databases and the professional development opportunities for teachers.

Moreover, at no additional cost, you receive valuable benefits, including the opportunity to create a legacy story documenting the life experiences and achievements of an individual or your family—in text, video and audio formats and in multiple languages. Your legacy story will be shared forever on our Web-based Heritage Honor Roll and on the Americans All home page of Legacy Partners you select. You can update your legacy story at any time for free.

Our nonprofit parent company, the People of America Foundation, invests 65 percent of your membership fee to help students become better prepared to participate in our nation's democracy, economy and workforce. After you have joined the Social Legacy Network, you can access your personal "Welcome Back" page to take advantage of its benefits.

Thank you for joining the Americans All Social Legacy Network

By clicking on the "Welcome Back" link at the top of this page, you can access the "Homeschool Resource Center," "Create a legacy story" and take advantage of other program benefits—all at no additional cost. In addition, you can Invite family and friends to learn about Americans All. Each time you log in, you will be taken directly to your "Welcome Back" page.

Through the Homeschool Resource Center, you can get social studies instructional resources already compiled by Americans All. Supplementing these resources are electronic, high-quality, grade-level-specific social studies resource databases to support homeschool instruction. The databases are organized, alphabetically and by subject matter, to include names of people, places, events and concepts. Embedded in the databases are links to other appropriate information to strengthen learning opportunities and facilitate interdisciplinary connections. Most importantly, the center will include information from other disciplines to enhance homeschool education.

As a Social Legacy Network member, you can also create and permanently share a legacy story on your family or a family member—in multiple languages, if desired—on our Heritage Honor Roll. Your online version can include photographs and links to other Web sites and audio and video recordings. Legacy stories acknowledge that heritage and culture are rich aspects of personal identity. You can modify or update your honoree's legacy story at any time and share it on the Americans All home pages of our Legacy Partners. Sharing your honoree's legacy story does not compromise your contact information.

We do not share or publish contact information on your homeschool, unless you authorize us to do so. Moreover, your one-time, tax-deductible membership fee of just $39 helps our program enrich social studies instruction so all K-12 students are well prepared to participate in our nation's democracy, economy and workforce.

The screenshot shows the Americans All website interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links for HOME, ABOUT US, JOIN NOW, PRESERVE A LEGACY, HERITAGE HONOR ROLL, and LEGACY PARTNER A. Below the navigation bar, the main heading reads "Download Customized Social Legacy Network Membership Materials". Underneath, there are three links: "Click here to download your customized Social Legacy Network posters.", "Click here to download your Social Legacy Network membership card.", and "Click here to download an 8½” x 11” version of your Heritage Honor Roll legacy story." The third link is highlighted with a red box and a red arrow pointing towards the legacy story page below. Below the links, there are three preview images: a "PROUD SPONSOR • HERITAGE HONOR ROLL" poster, an "Americans All Member Name Member Number" card, and a "Your Legacy Story" page featuring a portrait of Mariano Guadalupe Vallejo.

The legacy story page for Allan Kullen features a portrait of him at the top left. The title "A Champion for Social History" is centered in a blue serif font. Below the title, it identifies him as an "Individual or Group" and a "Businessman and Social Entrepreneur" born on February 20, 1942. The text describes his early life, education at the Carnegie Institute of Technology, and his career in the printing industry. It highlights his role as a marketing director for Kaufmann Press, Inc., his involvement with Pubco, and his founding of the People of America Foundation. The page also mentions his work with the Heritage Honor Roll and Americans All. At the bottom, there are logos for the Heritage Honor Roll, the People of America Foundation, and Americans All, along with the text "Sponsored By: Homeschool Family".

This link will appear after you publish your honoree’s legacy story.

The 8½” x 11” printable version of your honoree’s legacy story is available as an Adobe PDF image.

Become a Legacy Partner

Legacy Partners are schools and local, regional and/or national groups, businesses or organizations whose missions reinforce our program's goals of creating and sharing legacy stories and supporting excellence in social studies instruction.

Legacy Partners participate in our program at no cost because they:

- Generate a home page or home pages (in multiple languages) on our Web site to share information about themselves, better connect with their clients and customers, and demonstrate their commitment to strengthening schools and their community;
- Host, on their Americans All home page(s), legacy stories-created by affiliated honorees or social legacy network members and published on our Heritage Honor Roll-to provide additional exposure for these stories;
- Share available discounts on goods and services and other benefits with social legacy network members and other Legacy Partners; and
- Access Americans All logos and marketing templates to communicate the importance of our program to their current and future clients and customers.

How to Digitize Old Photos and Videos

Convert Your Nondigital Media using FotoBridge®

Americans All is pleased to offer our Social Legacy Network members an opportunity to connect with FotoBridge, one of the top digital conversion companies in the nation. It can convert your nondigital media (e.g., old photos, videos and audio recordings) to a file type that can be stored on your device and, if desired, uploaded and linked to your legacy story.

FotoBridge will convert and provide a URL for:

- Video file types to either an .mp4 or a .mov format
- Audio file types to an .mp3 format

Photo files can convert to either a .jpeg or .png format. If you want to link these files to your legacy story, see Step 1(b).

Enter promotional code AA234 when you contact FotoBridge to convert your nondigital media into easily accessible—and permanent—digital files. Click here to contact FotoBridge.

Homeschool Resource Center: A Virtual K-12, Multimedia Social Studies Library

Homeschool families assume the responsibility for educating their children. Yet the lack of federal, state or other funding limits these families' ability to access many of the multimedia instructional resources and teaching tools available to public and private schools. At the same time, their varied, value-based education philosophies often preclude the use of traditional textbooks, particularly in social studies.

Social studies education is key, because this discipline helps prepare students to participate effectively in our nation's democracy, economy and workforce, as well as our increasingly diverse and complex global society. The Internet and the multimedia, historically accurate, nonpartisan data housed in our Homeschool Resource Center make it practical and affordable for homeschool families to customized social studies instructional resources to better support their personal beliefs. Consistent with our philosophy, we leave all content, curriculum and instructional decisions to individual families.

Our center contains links to our existing instructional materials and teaching tools in social studies. All our instructional materials are state- and grade-level-specific, and they can be used to help homeschool students meet testing requirements. These specific resources are part of the materials developed during the past 30 years by Americans All and many can effectively enrich the homeschool learning experience. They include:

- A generic 412-page timeline publication;
- Hundreds of period-specific photographs, each annotated to tell a story;
- 22 songs that reflect the experiences of early 20th century groups; and
- Grade-level-specific teachers' guides.

In addition, we are developing electronic, high-quality, multimedia grade-level-specific social studies resource databases that are organized, alphabetically and by subject matter, to include names of people, places, events and concepts. Embedded in the databases are links to other appropriate information to strengthen learning opportunities and facilitate interdisciplinary connections. We also offer professional development opportunities in social studies for teaching in homeschool environments.

Accurate, Searchable Databases

Our resource databases and grade-level-specific teacher's guides help both parents and students easily find the best, most accurate materials available on the Web. We provide links to appropriate information to strengthen learning and facilitate interdisciplinary connections.

Timeline

This timeline publication, developed with contributions from more than 80 scholars and historians, expands the scope of Americans All by providing a unique parallel chronology. It documents the peoples, cultures and ideologies that make up U.S. history and its place in world studies.

Photographs

Our collection of more than 300 authentic photographs afford students visual that can be a powerful catalyst for further study. A teacher's guide includes suggestions on how to use these photographs to reinforce student learning and stimulate student interest in American history.

Music

This resource contains 22 original recordings and scores of historic songs that reflect immigrant experiences from 1914 to 1948. Where appropriate, language-specific translations are included. We also provide a teacher's guide that suggests learning activities for lower and upper grades.

As a homeschool parent, you have been recommended to become a member of the Americans All Social Legacy Network for a one-time, tax-deductible fee of just $39! We face the challenge of preparing our children to live and succeed in a secular society, while maintaining our values. In the past, it has been very difficult for us to access nonpartisan instructional resources that are both accurate and free from biases, particularly in history and civics. That's all changed, thanks to the Americans All Homeschool Resource Center: A virtual K-12, multimedia social studies library.

The center enables you to gain unlimited access to high-quality, nonpartisan instructional resources in social studies that will help you prepare your children to participate effectively in our nation's democracy, economy and workforce, as well as our increasingly diverse and complex global society—without their being subjected to unwanted perspectives. The Internet and the multimedia, historically accurate, nonpartisan data housed in the center makes it practical and affordable for homeschool families to produce customized resources that support personal beliefs.

Americans All believes that legacy preservation and education are closely linked, and they we invest a portion of their membership revenue to enhance K–12 social studies instruction. Moreover, they ensure our privacy by not publishing or sharing contact information without our written authorization and leave all content, curriculum and instructional decisions to individual families.

Their instructional materials are grade-level-specific, and can be used to help homeschool students meet testing requirements. The center contains links to their existing social studies instructional materials and teaching tools which are part of the resources they developed during the past 30 years. Many of these resources can effectively enrich the homeschool learning experience. They include:

- A generic and historically accurate 412-page timeline publication;
- Hundreds of period specific photographs, each annotated to tell a story;
- 22 songs that reflect the experiences of early 20th century groups; and
- Grade-level-specific teacher's guides.

In addition, they are developing electronic, high-quality, multimedia grade-level-specific social studies resource databases that are organized, alphabetically and by subject matter, to include names of people, places, events and concepts. Embedded in the databases are links to other appropriate information to strengthen learning opportunities and facilitate interdisciplinary connections. They also offer professional development opportunities in social studies for teaching in homeschool environments.

Besides the instructional resources, membership gives you the opportunity to create and update a legacy story about an individual or your family for free. Legacy stories acknowledge that heritage and culture are rich aspects of personal and group identity and contain invaluable knowledge and experiences that will be lost if not passed on now to future generations. These stories are published, forever, on their Web-based Heritage Honor Roll and, for wider distribution, on the Americans All home pages of Legacy Partners. Learning how to research, write, edit a life story (whether published or not) offers a wonderful bonding experience for an entire family and can showcase examples of individuals and groups who reflect your beliefs. Their templates and tutorials make it easy to create a legacy story.

In addition to receiving electronic access to high-quality, state- and grade-level-specific social studies resource databases and creating a legacy story for our Heritage Honor Roll, Americans All Social Legacy Network membership includes an opportunity for your homeschool to become a member of the Legacy Partner Alliance. Legacy Partners are schools and local, regional and/or national groups, businesses or organizations whose missions reinforce our program's goals of creating and sharing legacy stories and supporting excellence in social studies instruction. They can generate a home page—or home pages in multiple languages—on our Web site to share information on themselves and can host legacy stories of individuals and families important to them.

If a homeschool wants to join our Legacy Partner Alliance, it must share its contact information with the public and complete the form below now. If the homeschool later wants to join our Legacy Partner Alliance, you can do so by going to your “Welcome Back” page and selecting “Edit My School's Home Page” under the “Actions” tab.

My Honoree Legacy Story for the Heritage Honor Roll

As a Social Legacy Network member, you can now create and permanently share a legacy story on an individual or a group important to you on our Web-based Heritage Honor Roll—in text, video and audio formats. In addition, your story can be updated at any time, retold in multiple languages and printed out in an 8½" x 11" format to share with family, friends and associates. You can ask Legacy Partners to host your story on their Americans All home page(s).

My Legacy Partner Home Page(s)

Once you become a point of contact for a Legacy Partner, you can edit its home page on the Americans All Web site and generate that page in one or more additional languages, at no cost. Having a Legacy Partner home page enables your organization to demonstrate, to clients and customers, its support of our program's two-fold mission to preserve legacies and support excellence in K-12 social studies instruction.
